Symington To Quit As One-Man Administrator Of RFC

Cleanup Boss May Leave This Month

Washington (AP) — Stuart Symington, cleanup boss of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., is leaving government service this month, President Truman disclosed yesterday.

The President said at a news conference that Symington has been wanting to leave for a year and a half. He said he thought he would accept the RFC head's resignation some time this month.

Symington, former St. Louis manufacturer, is reported planning to go back into private business.

A top administration trouble shooter for six years, he was assigned to RFC as one-man boss last May, replacing the old five-man board of directors.

Some members of the old board were charged by a Senate subcommittee, after an investigation had made big headlines, with yielding to political influence in granting government loans.

Symington had made a number of changes in the big lending agency's operations, including:

Making all RFC loans public, requiring representatives of loan seekers to register and list any fees involved, and taking away the power of regional RFC officers to approve loans.

Symington is planning a five weeks vacation in Jamaica starting Feb. 15, associates said. After that he is expected to enter some private business, he nature of which has not yet been disclosed.

HST Confirms Murphy Story

Washington (AP) — President Truman yesterday confirmed widespread reports that Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy of New York once accepted and later turned down appointment to head an investigation of corruption in government charges.

But the President turned aside questions about a report that Attorney General McGrath has offered to step out of the Cabinet. McGrath has been under fire by critics who say he has not been vigorous enough in cracking down on irregularities in government.

Mr. Truman declared that his own governmental cleanup program will go forward uninterrupted.

He predicted Congress will approve his plan, announced Wednesday, to reorganize the nation's tax collection system and take its employees out of politics.

The President said he'd favored such a plan for a long time but that some members of both parties in Congress have blocked it.

Asked about a report that McGrath had expressed willingness to be replaced as the nation's top law enforcement officer, the President said that all sorts of rumors were going around. He said he wasn't going to say anything further about his cleanup plans until he was ready.

McGrath himself refused to see reporters who sought comment from him.

Runaway Caboose Rams Into Train

Montour Falls, N. Y. (AP) — A caboose ran wild down a grade yesterday, slammed into a train and injured three railroad workers. The caboose became detached in an undetermined manner from a 65-car Lehigh Valley freight train, rail officials said.

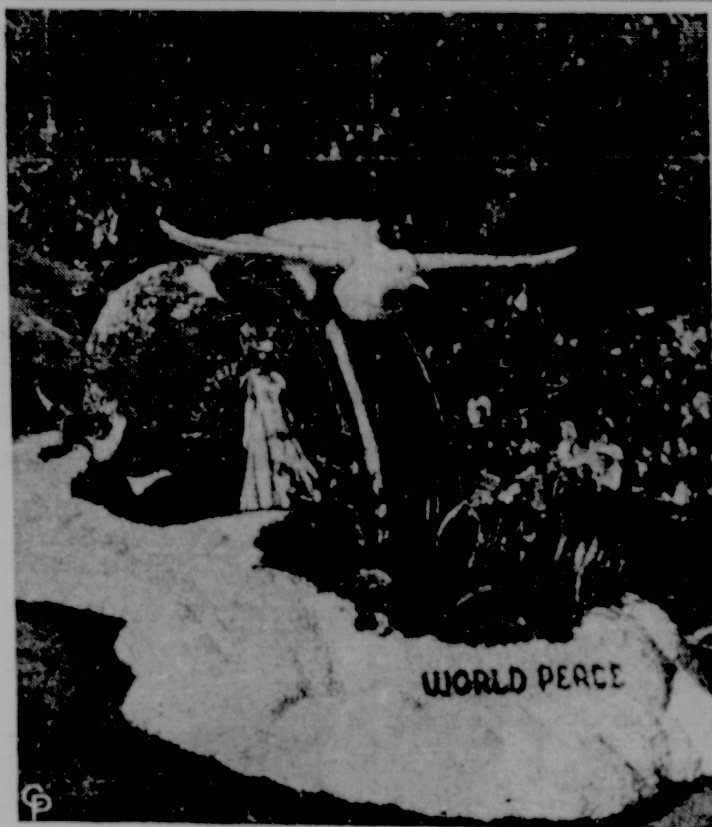

After automatic brakes stopped the train, the caboose slammed into it, the officials said.

The injured men, who were all in the caboose, are: James E. White, 59, of Athens, Pa.; Louis Jordan, 56, and James Martine, 40, both of Sayre, Pa.

A hospital in this Schuylers county community reported the men's conditions respectively as fair, satisfactory and good.

Treasury Reports Deficit Of 7.5 Billions At Midway Point In U. S. Fiscal Year

Washington, (AP) — The Treasury reported yesterday that the government was $7,467,242,215 in the red Dec. 31, the halfway point in the current fiscal year.

The deficit, 13 times greater than a year ago, was the largest for a six-month period since the flood of public spending in World War Two. Defense spending was up almost 200 per cent in the period from July 1 to Dec. 31, 1951. The government's fiscal year ends next June 30.

Treasury officials said heavy income tax payments in the next few months are expected to reduce the year-end deficit to about six billion dollars.

At this time last year the deficit stood at $599,354,042 and the national debt was $256,731,304,988. Right now the national debt is $259,460,778,794.

Total military spending in the last six-month period vaulted to $19,078,700,000 from a figure of $7,744,200,000 in the last six months of 1950, when the fighting in Korea was building up.

Total spending rose from $19,063,012,755 in the last half of 1950 to $31,276,342,203 for the same 1951 period. Receipts from taxes and other sources totaled $23,809,099,987 in the last half or 1951, compared with $18,463,658,712 in the same period of the previous year.

Bomb Claims Second Victim

Sanford, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Harriet Moore, wife of bomb-slaying victim Harry T. Moore, died in a hospital here yesterday from injuries received in the Christmas night bombing of the Negro leader's home at Mims, Fla.

Dr. George H. Starke said death was due to a blood clot in her circulation.

She had been improving steadily until Tuesday, the day of her husband's funeral. She left the hospital that day against Dr. Starke's orders to view Moore's body at a funeral home.

Moore, 46, was Florida secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Both he and his wife were school teachers.

Spook Locked In (Or Out) Of Haunted Kentucky House

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — The Henry Thackers locked their doors yesterday to keep out curious neighbors, but they were uncertain whether a fun-loving spook was locked in or out.

The spook was blamed for a series of strange antics in the house this week. Members of the Thacker household reported seeing objects bouncing around on the floor and through the air in a mysterious manner.

A corn cob reportedly floated out of the basement into the dining room, a small box sailed from one room to another and a photograph album apparently flew through the air without assistance, members of the household said.

Curious neighbors, attracted by stories of the spook, also reported seeing strange movements of small objects inside the house. They helped with a wake Wednesday night, but nothing much happened.

All this excitement has kept the Thackers awake a lot at night and has brought an increasing flow of visiting neighbors.

"My doors were locked today to everyone," Mrs. Thacker said wearily. "I'm not letting in even my closest neighbors. We've got to have some peace and quiet."

There was some evidence—not much—that the spook was locked inside the house yesterday. Mrs. Thacker said members of the family reported a fruit jar raring and a bottle top sailed out of the dining room.

"No one was in the room at the time," Mrs. Thacker said.

Neighbors on the outside saw nothing of the spook, though, and they figured maybe it was resting yesterday, somewhere behind the locked doors of the Thacker home.

U. S. Rejects Red Proposal For U. N. Talks

Paris (AP) — Russia called yesterday for a top drawer meeting of the U. N. Security Council—attended by chiefs of state or foreign ministers—to consider a successful conclusion of Korean armistice negotiations and methods to relax world tensions.

In a speech, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky hinted ominously at events to come in southeast Asia. He accused the United States of preparing aggressive measures against Red China along her southern borders.

The surprise Russian proposal for a special Security Council meeting was quickly rejected by American sources here and in Washington. Diplomatic authorities in Washington said such a session—where Russia would have a veto—would worsen the prospect of peace in Korea by bringing political issues into the armistice negotiations.

Some delegates construed Vishinsky's speech to the 60-nation Political committee as a warning that Communist China may use the charges of U. S. aggression to launch new military action on her southern flank.

"These illegal—flagrantly illegal acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China, in Thailand, Burma and Yunnan province (of China)," Vishinsky said.

There have been rumors of heightened Red Chinese military preparations in south China.

Washington (AP) — The State department accused Russia yesterday of trying to "cover up the aggressive designs of international Communism" with its charges that the United States is arming Chinese Nationalist forces in southeast Asia.

Reacting swiftly to a violent speech made by Andrei Vishinsky the Soviet foreign minister, at the United Nations Assembly in Paris yesterday, the State department said through Michael J. McDermott, its chief press officer:

"Mr. Vishinsky's statement is another example of the usual Soviet tactics of attempting to cover up the aggressive designs of international Communism by charging others with misconduct."

"It has been clearly stated in the past and now I will say it again that the U. S. is not supplying arms to the troops of Gen. Lei Mi on Burmese soil or anywhere else."

Officials here did not attempt to hide their concern over the threat of a Red Chinese attack on Indo-China in the harsh light of Vishinsky's words.

Lack Of Scrap Metal Closes Steel Furnaces

Washington (AP) — A shortage of scrap metal has forced three open hearth steel furnaces to close down in Gary, Ind., and threatens work stoppages in four other localities, the government reported yesterday.

The National Production authority (NPA) said three furnaces of the U. S. Steel Corp. were closed Wednesday at Gary.

It estimated that production loss would be 1,600 tons of steel ingot. U. S. Steel also is losing about 3,000 tons of hot metal a day because of acute shortage of coke.

NPA said steel company officials reported they had four days supply of scrap metal but had decided on the shutdown because the scrap stockpile had dropped nearly 50 per cent in the area. Available supplies will be used to keep other furnaces operating. One mill in Pittsburgh reported only a half-day supply of scrap, NPA said.

"The situation is almost as serious in Buffalo, Cincinnati and eastern Pennsylvania," it added.

Scrap iron and steel compose about half of each ton of new steel.

Navy Selects Two Missile Ships

Washington, (AP) — The Navy has picked two swift cruisers to become the first guided missile warships for bombarding inland cities of an enemy with atomic or conventional explosives.

It announced yesterday that the 13,600-ton heavy cruisers Canberra and Boston are being taken out of the mothball fleet at Bremerton, Wash., for conversion into missile ships.

John Wolfe, Ex-Merchant Marine, Recalls Jinx Reputation Held By Flying Enterprise

When the name of the freighter "Flying Enterprise" appeared in the news this week, John Wolfe, Cresco, a wartime member of the Merchant Marine, had a few stories to tell his friends in this area about the ship and its "hard luck background."

Stories about the freighter, according to Wolfe, have become almost legion in the shipping business. Seamen from other merchant lines have become well-acquainted with its name through a series of repeated run-ins with fate which have tended to give the ship a jinx reputation.

The latest in a long line of mishaps occurred this past week, on Christmas day, when the worst hurricane in 50 years snapped the Enterprise over on its side during an Atlantic crossing. Capt. Kurt Carlsen, skipper of the ship, ordered his 40 crewmen and 10 passengers to "abandon ship" last Friday. Carlsen refused to leave.

The history of the Enterprise is filled with such hard luck episodes, according to Wolfe.

The 6,711-ton freighter, owned by the Isbrandtsen line, was reportedly involved in a number of collisions "in convoy" during World War Two. Then, during the Arab-Israeli conflict following the war, the Enterprise was held in port near the Suez, and refused permission to leave by the Egyptian government.

The ship was not given permission to continue on its chartered course until after international authorities had intervened.

During hostilities between the Chinese Nationalist government and the Mao Tse Tung regime in Red China, the Enterprise became involved in a series of mishaps while trying to run a Red blockade.

It was following one of these run-ins that Wolfe last saw the freighter.

In January, 1950, shortly before Wolfe's return to the U. S. and his eventual return to civilian life, the freighter was tied up in the Panama canal zone. According to Wolfe, it was then on its way back from China. It had been hit "by a couple of Red shells."

Wolfe, who enlisted in the Merchant Marine before the second World War broke out and stayed in until the early part of 1950, recalls having worked side by side with Waldemar Isbrandtsen, son of the owner of the steamship line to which the Enterprise belongs.

Waldemar, "a young kid" as Wolfe remembers him, was not allowed to work for his father who thought he was "no sailor to have on the Isbrandtsen line." He later went to work for his father in a commercial coffee enterprise owned by the line Wolfe said.

As the stories continued to come in this week from London, New York and Hamburg, concerning the plight of Skipper Carlsen, Wolfe and many other salty seagoers now on dry land could wear an "I told 'em so" expression.

No matter what happens to the freighter or its skipper, the Enterprise will still go down in legend as a ship that will "cause somebody a headache." At least that's the opinion of one mariner John Wolfe of Cresco who has followed its "hard luck history" closely during the past ten years.

Capt. Swift's Father Dies

Syracuse, N. Y. (AP) — The father of Capt. John J. Swift, one of four American airmen "ransomed" from Communist Hungary last week, died last night in a hospital here.

Captain Swift was at his father's bedside when death ended their three-day reunion. The pilot had arrived here by plane Monday on emergency leave.

John J. Swift Sr. was a retired railroad engineer. His death at St. Joseph's hospital was attributed to cancer. He was 65.

Captain Swift, 34, and three other fliers were imprisoned in Hungary for 39 days after their C-47 transport plane strayed from its course and landed in the Communist-controlled country. They had been enroute from Germany to Belgrade, Yugoslavia, with supplies for the American embassy.

Swift was the co-pilot.

The United States paid $120,000 in "rains" imposed by a Hungarian court to obtain release of the men.

Student Posts Bail In Death

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — A college student was released under $1,000 bond yesterday after being held for investigation in the death of a blonde model whose almost nude body was found on a bed near her baby girl's crib.

Justice of the Peace Kenneth Oka ordered Jerry Sukin, 26, a University of Miami student, held as a material witness pending outcome of an inquest into the death of Mrs. Marjorie Heiken.

Constable William McCrory said he recommended the action after a lie detector test indicated the student was telling the truth when he said he had not killed the young mother.

Jilted Suitor Sues

Chicago (AP) — A jilted suitor wants $2,500 he claims he spent courting a woman. She married another man. Lawrence I. Lowell, 35, a mechanical engineer of Seattle, Wash., filed the suit in Superior court. Named defendants are Mrs. Rose Cichon Potocki, 28, wife of Edward A. Potocki,

Prized Christmas Hill Outpost Recaptured By Allied Troops

Seoul, Korea, Friday, (AP) — Allied troops fighting through intense mortar and automatic weapons fire in the pre-dawn darkness today retook the prized Christmas hill outpost west of Mundung valley in east-central Korea.

Communist forces had occupied it late last night after a surging attack that cut off two Allied squads.

There was no word of the fate of the two squads.

The hill outpost was named because the Reds first attacked and won it on Christmas day. The Allies rewon the height one week ago after three days of bitter, sea-saw fighting.

In the west, Allied troops supported by tanks in heavy fighting seized all but one of two knobs of an important hill outpost which they lost Dec. 28, a UN command staff officer said.

The outpost is west of Korangpo, which is 30 miles north of Seoul.

The Allied troops first attacked with tanks after a two-hour artillery barrage and air strikes Thursday had softened up the Reds. Two attacking forces moved up.

One force rewon a key knob within the first hour against heavy resistance but the Reds mounted two counterattacks. The second forced the Allied troops to give ground.

The second Allied attacking force won its objective after nearly seven hours of intense fighting.

In the air war, 15 Allied Superforts last night blasted Communist targets in northwest Korea and front line targets. All returned to their Okinawa bases, the Far East Air Forces said in Tokyo.

The ground fighting picked up as the intense cold abated and temperatures hovered around a comparatively mild 32 degrees.

The Allied officer said that the South Korean cleanup of guerrillas forces south of Parallel 38 was about completed.

Oath Administered To New Justice

Pittsburg (AP) — Michael A. Musmanno, bachelor Pittsburgh jurist, author and former German war crime trial judge, achieved a lifetime ambition yesterday as he became a justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme court.

Chief Justice James B. Drew administered the oath before hundreds of well-wishers. Federal District Judge Wallace S. Gouley presented Judge Musmanno's commission from Gov. John S. Fine.

Judge Musmanno, a Democrat, was elected last November.

Fastening Of Tow Lines To Await Daylight

London, Friday (AP) — The British tug Turmoil reached the side of the helpless Flying Enterprise in the night, but darkness and the ship's lurching delayed at least until dawn the fastening of the tow lines that will help Capt. Kurt Carlsen win his lone battle against the Atlantic.

At daylight, around 7 a. m. the tug will try to get men aboard the Enterprise to fasten the lines, the tug's master reported to London.

Three times the Turmoil fired lines to Carlsen, who has been clinging to the deck of the Flying Enterprise for six days and six nights since she was crippled by an Atlantic storm. And three times Carlsen, clinging to a support with one hand and trying to catch the line with the other, failed because of the 60-degree list and the lurching of the freighter.

"Preparations are now under way for taking the Flying Enterprise in tow," said a radio message to U. S. Navy headquarters here today from the U. S. destroyer John W. Weeks.

The Weeks has been standing by to warn shipping away from the helpless craft and rescue Carlsen if necessary.

The Turmoil, described by her owners as the most powerful tug in the world, came alongside the drifting Isbrandtsen line vessel at 11 p. m. (6 p. m. Eastern Standard time). Her captain, Dan Parker, immediately started the work of getting lines aboard.

Parker reported to the Turmoil's owners in London at 3 a. m., however, it was impossible to make the connection during the darkness due to the list and lurching of the ship. He added:

"At daylight, if possible, will put men aboard and connect."

The tug captain said several attempts were made to get a line to Carlsen, but he was unable to haul it in "owing to the necessity of holding on with one hand due to the angle of the ship and the lurching of the ship."

The Flying Enterprise has buoyancy, he said, "and I am confident that, given reasonable weather, she can be towed to port."

Fortified by U. S. Navy coffee, Carlsen neared the decisive hour when the lines would be shot to the crazily leaning craft he has occupied alone for six days since storm damage caused him to order his passengers and crewmen to rescue ships.

Eyewitnesses reported that the freighter, though listing 60 or 65 degrees to port and down slightly at the head, was riding steadily in the sharply rolling waters about 300 miles off west England's southern tip.

The Destroyer Weeks reported the 37-year-old Carlsen, who had refused to leave his ship and its rich 2,650-ton general cargo, was "very cheerful and grateful" for offers of help, but determined to remain aboard until the vessel reaches port.

Carlsen and the masters of the Weeks and the Turmoil worked out details of the towing plan in a three-way radio telephone conversation. As reported by U. S. Navy monitors:

Carlsen said he would be able to handle by himself the first lines to be shot aboard the Flying Enterprise by the Turmoil. He decided, with the others concurring, that his ship should be towed stern first.

If good weather holds, the Turmoil will head for Falmouth, Eng., after making the tow lines fast. Brest, France, and Bantry bay, in Southern Ireland, were selected as alternative ports.

After three vain attempts, the Weeks finally succeeded in delivering coffee, sandwiches, candy, cigarettes, newspapers and magazines across a line fired to the freighter.

The destroyer said Carlsen "is in excellent spirits and is certain that the Flying Enterprise will ride it out if the weather does not deteriorate again."

Square-jawed Carlsen, with a wife and two daughters in Woodbridge, N. J., was concerned for the crew of the "tin can" which was pitching and rolling in the still raging storm.

"You fellows are taking a worse beating and suffering more than I am," he radioed a few hours before the coffee relay.

New Snow Threat

Chicago, (AP) — A threat of more snow last night plagued the southern Colorado mountain country, hard hit by ferocious storms and subzero cold this week, while snow and freezing rain spread into New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Mrs. Palmer, Water Gap Widow, Dies

Delaware Water Gap — Mrs. Martha Kelly Palmer, widow of L. Brodhead Palmer, for many years a merchant and civic leader in this community, died yesterday morning in the General Hospital.

Mrs. Palmer, who was 80, had been in ill health for seven months. A native of Dunfield, N. J., Mrs. Palmer was a daughter of the late William R. and Mary Hunt Kelly. She came to Delaware Water Gap as a child and resided there for the remainder of her life.

Mrs. Palmer had worked at the Wyckoff Department store, the former Wallace dry goods store and at Okuno's souvenir store.

She maintained an active interest in Presbyterian Church of the Mountain here where she was a member. Mrs. Palmer was also a member of the Woman's Auxiliary of the church and the Adult Bible class, General Hospital auxiliary.

Survivors include one step-son, Reuben M. Palmer, Arlington, Va. and several cousins.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in William H. Clark funeral home, Stroudsburg. Rev. Hubert E. Newton, Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be made in Delaware Water Gap cemetery.

Friends may call at the Clark funeral home after 7 p.m. today.

Mrs. Emma Carlton, Oldest Resident Of Greentown Area, Dies At 96 At Son's Home

Greentown—Mrs. Emma M. Carlton, 96, died yesterday morning at the home of her son, Ernest, following a long illness. Mrs. Carlton was the oldest resident of the Newfoundland-Greentown area.

Born in South Sterling, a daughter of the late Henry and Anna Callahan Long, she had been a lifelong resident of that region. She was the widow of Cooper Carlton.

Mrs. Carlton was a member of the Hemlock Grove Methodist church.

Surviving are her son, Ernest, and another son, Myron, both of Greentown; two daughters, Mrs. Ella Patterson and Mrs. Luther Krummell, both of Florida; 11 grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren and 6 great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the late home Sunday at 2 p.m. with Rev. Harry Roof, pastor of the South Sterling Methodist church officiating. Interment will be in Pine Grove cemetery, South Sterling.

Coleman's brother, James J. Coleman, 23 Barry St., South Stroudsburg, and a sister, Mrs. Isabel Cullather, Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, attended funeral services at Riegelsville Wednesday afternoon.

Interment was made in a Fernside cemetery.

Robert Correll Found Dead At Son's Residence

Robert Correll, 74, formerly of Monroe county, was found dead at the home of his son, William Correll, of Fullerton, early this week.

Mr. Correll's body was found hanging in a garage at the rear of his son's home at that address. He had lived with his son for the past five weeks.

Dr. Fred Knappenberger, deputy Lehigh county coroner, issued a certificate listing death by strangulation, hanging with suicidal intent.

Surviving, in addition to his son, William, are two other sons, Preston of Saylorsburg RD 1, and Fred.

We're tackling the biggest job in telephone history

In the past six big and busy years we've put in telephones for more than 1,000,000 new subscribers here in Pennsylvania. At the same time, we've greatly expanded and improved the quality and speed of telephone service.

But our job has just begun. The demand for more and ever-improving service continues high. The next three years will be the biggest three in the history of our company. There's only one thing that could stop us. That's the possibility of an even greater shortage of the materials we need—such as copper, the very heart of a telephone system.

During 1952 we will break ground for 12 entirely new Central Office buildings. We will make major additions in 42 Central Offices. We'll install new and improved equipment in more than 225 others... nearly half the Central Offices in the state.

Outside, we'll put in an additional 690,000 miles of telephone wire and add new and improved cable designed to give us more and more telephone circuits linking the busy communities of the state.

Important, too, are the 137,000 new telephones we plan to add during the current year... enough to serve three large cities like Harrisburg, Chester and McKeesport. Nearly 17,000 of these new telephones will be in the rural areas we serve.

This is the kind of growth that really counts. It counts because the telephone is so essential to this state's business and social needs. It counts because speed of communication is so vital to military preparedness and civilian defense. It counts because the value of your telephone grows as the telephone system expands.

What will this telephone expansion cost us? The price tag will be high. Nearly $81,000,000 for 1952 alone. Any way you look at it, it's the biggest job we've ever tackled.

1951 Fishing Licenses Good To January 31

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Revenue department late yesterday decided to let Pennsylvania's fishermen use their 1951 licenses and buttons to fish until Jan. 31.

Otto F. Messner, revenue secretary, said the move was made because of a delay in the delivery of the necessary licensing material for 1951 to county treasurers and authorized issuing agencies.

"By Feb. 1," he added, "the treasurers and agents will have the new forms and buttons on hand and applications for fishing privileges during 1952 may be made in the usual way."

Failure of a New Jersey manufacturer to ship the buttons to licensing agents on time caused a two-day dilemma which remained confused until the Revenue department ruling.

"In instances where a would-be fisherman does not have 1951 credentials he may obtain a license card for 1952 by applying any time now to the county treasurer's office, and the button may be obtained later," Messner added.

C. A. French, State fish commissioner sought help from the Revenue department after fishermen all over the State complained of failure to obtain licenses.

"The law requires that a fisherman must be licensed in Pennsylvania and that the license button must be worn conspicuously at all times," French said.

F. Carl Anderson, director of the Bureau of Purchases in the Property and Supplies department said the New Jersey manufacturer mailed out half of the buttons last week. The other half are in the process of delivery, he added.

The State sold some 650,000 fishing licenses last year.

Exit the Penny Postal

Gone the way of all good things is the penny postal card, since 1873 an essential commodity for our citizens, with the exception of a short hiatus during World War I when the rate was increased.

Gone but not forgotten, since the uses to which the penny postal was put were of a varied multiplicity difficult to describe. But gone it is, and from now on the unwary citizen who puts a penny postal in Uncle Sam's mailbox may find it returned to him for the addition of another penny stamp or, for the next sixty days, sent on to the receiver with a request that the additional penny be forthcoming at the destination.

For clubs and similar organizations accustomed to mailing out the return-card communication in which the members are summoned to a meeting, the cost of such correspondence is doubled.

For the vacationing wife who remembers that she forgot to tell the home-bound husband to do this or that while she was away, the cost of her forgetfulness will be increased.

For the occasional writer of letters-to-the-editor, containing caustic but brief comment, or extravagant praise, it will be necessary for one more penny to carry these happy messages.

Yet the penny postal demise is only part of the rearrangement of rates, for special delivery fees are upped variously from a nickel to fifteen cents, and registered letters and parcels can cost you as much as $1.50 more.

What will be the effect on our literate, postcard writing world? Will it be worth two cents to tell your friends that X marks the room you are occupying and that you wish they were with you on the Boardwalk?

How Many More?

With the crash of another passenger-crowded C-46 plane of a non-scheduled airline en route between Pittsburgh and Buffalo, the public is properly asking itself the question: how many more?

For the C-46 has been a controversial aircraft ever since the first one flew in 1940. Planned on the designers' drawing board as a twin-engine aircraft for the airlines, the public had its first glimpse of the plane when a mock-up was placed in the aviation building at New York's pre-war World's Fair.

The airplane seemed to have everything to recommend it, and drew enthusiastic comments from the industry in general even before it took to the air on its initial flight. It was designed to carry a considerably heavier load than the old work-horse of the airlines, the world-renowned C-47 or DC-3 as it is known in civil aviation, and to carry that load faster than the older type of plane.

But then came the war, with its immediate and insistent demand for multi-engine transports, and the factories began turning out the C-46 without the usual time allowed for testing to "get the bugs out of it."

In the famed Hump airlift between India and China, the initial reputation of the C-46 was not good, and in the winter of 1943-1944 many were lost on takeoff or in the hazardous flight to China, although it is true that between the Jap fighters, the unpredictable weather, and the dangerous terrain over the Himalayas, many another type of aircraft was lost, too.

However, with the end of the hostilities on V-J Day, the C-46 was quickly made available to embryo airline operators from war surplus stocks, and since then has been flown throughout the world but with many an aviation enthusiast taking a dim view of the plane.

How many more of these apparently jinxed planes are to be permitted to carry passengers? It would seem that they should be relegated to the transport of cargo only.

The Eiffel Tower in Paris cost more than $1 million.

Hollywood—Yvonne DeCarlo said it sounds funny but it's true. While she was singing and dancing her way through Israel recently, a jeep-load of police followed her everywhere. One sleuth shadowed her constantly, carrying a briefcase.

From the company that booked her appearances, she's just heard why: There was a plot to kidnap her. The guy with the briefcase had a Tommy-gun in it.

Yvonne looked so luscious in her "Scarlet Angel" gown, I could not blame anyone for wanting to kidnap her. What was new in the boy-friend department?

"I do many things much more interesting than going somewhere with some schmoe," said Miss DeCarlo. Name one thing, I challenged.

"I have a production company of my own, Vancouver Production," she answered. "Our first story will be Biblical. I'll star as Ruth or Esther or some other Biblical character. We'll shoot our exteriors in Israel. Also, I have friends in Persia—the whole royal family are friends of mine—and they'll be glad to let us use their throne." . . .

Look who's getting difficult with the press: Abbott and Costello. I stood around several minutes while Bud and Lou were "resting." You could hear the snap and shuffle of cards in their dressing room. Ho hum, I've adopted the policy of Ace AP photographer Frank Filan. If one star's too temperamental to pose, there are scores of others who will . . .

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

may prove to be one of the most important in our history.

President Truman has lost the leadership of his party. His so-called "program," a medley of Socialistic and class measures, designed to catch bloc votes, will not even get a hearing. The economic fantasies of his economic adviser, Leon Keyserling, have whiffed off into the cloudy miasma whence they came. The Democratic leadership in the Senate is no longer unified. It is each man for himself—particularly those senators who require re-election.

In the House, the confusion is equally general. The success of Congressman Cecil King's subcommittee in uncovering corruption has whittled many an appetite for similar service and acclaim. There is likely to be committee competition in this field.

In the Senate, the Republicans remain under the leadership of Senator Robert A. Taft, except that the Eisenhower contingent, particularly those who are vice-presidential hopefuls, will seek to clip Taft's wings. They will be treated without too much courtesy as the convention approaches. The stalwarts of Republican New Dealism, Duff of Pennsylvania, Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Morse of Oregon, and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, will find little comfort within their own party, no matter how much praise they get among the intellectual hill-billies of Park Avenue.

It will be a tough, noisome Congress. The McCarran committee is the one to watch most keenly. It has the goods. Owen Lattimore's testimony will have to be tested against the files taken from E. C. Carter's barn. John Carter Vincent will have an opportunity to testify in January. Before this committee is through with its work, several great American reputations will be tarnished if not wrecked. On the constructive side, this committee will have established the Russian pattern of infiltration into our government.

Next in importance will be the hearings before the Gillette committee into Senator William Benton's charges against Senator Joe McCarthy. To the Democrats, Senator Benton's charges are a political headache because they may result in a Republican victory in Connecticut. The hearing centers on Senator McCarthy's Wheeling (W. Va.) speech and the mixed testimony as to what he actually said. Senator McCarthy is using this investigation to win in Wisconsin.

The burden of taxes, while some evade them, has proved embarrassing to many members of Congress, particularly those who went home during the Christmas holidays. Without regard to partisanship, those members of the Senate or House who come up for re-election cannot vote for increased taxes. Most of them will have to make some reasonable and articulate evidence that they favor not only punishment for fraud and tax evasions, but the collection of money due. For obviously, the rest of us pay more because some do not pay enough and some not at all.

The President will probably fight off any investigation by a Congressional committee of actual income tax returns. To so-called practical politicians it will not be so important that the returns should actually be examined as that they should propose that it should be done. It is believed, in Washington, that many important persons have made only nominal returns. Therefore, this issue becomes strictly political in an election year.

Meanwhile, representative Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., will inroduce two measures which, if they are not treated with consideration, will become campaign issues. One measure will be "to assist individuals to provide financial security upon retirement and to make provisions for surviving members of their families by allowing an income tax deduction for premiums paid on annuity and life insurance contracts."

This is the sanest and most generally fair measure to assist the "white collar class" and provide for their obsolescence, as the obsolescence of machines is already provided for. It is not a man as worthy as a machine? The measure will not require anyone to join a union, guild or association, as Senator Lyes and Representative Coudert proposed last year upon instigation of a bar association committee.

The other measure is designed: "First: to compel the establishment of a balanced budget for 1953 based upon the present high tax rates; and

"Second: take a first step in the direction of reduction in annual expenditures to the end that intolerable tax rates may be presently reduced and a beginning made in reduction of the national debt."

It would limit expenditures to $71,000,000,000, no matter who wants to spend more, and for whatever reason.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—President Truman's budget message to Congress will forecast a surplus of cash in the U. S. Treasury for mid-1952. The President's forecast will be correct, but only because administration planning for defense production is a 50 per cent flop.

With $94,000,000,000 to spend, the Defense department will be fortunate if it has paid out 50 per cent of this for weapons, planes and ships delivered to the fighting forces here and abroad by the end of 1952. Aircraft production, for instance, is 10,000 planes short of the 1951 goal; guided missiles production is 60 per cent below expectations and tank production is 35 per cent behind schedule.

Politics, had planning and Air Force Navy squabbling are mostly to blame for the miserable defense production record of 1951. Production of civilian consumer and heavy machine goods surpassed the 1950 level in most cases, by contrast, and is convincing proof that poor planning accounts for the lag in weapon production.

The trouble is that not enough metal, rubber, fuel and chemicals have been funneled into defense production. And the blame lies with the politically timid in the White House, where the prevailing mood is that nobody should be hurt by the arms build-up. Least of all labor. To get tanks a few of the factories making pots and pans will have to be shut down. But labor wouldn't like that, and it hasn't been done so far.

The situation has left the military with billions of dollars in the bank sans support for weapons—and with a White House demand on its back for another multi-billion dollar defense budget. In fact, the Defense department trotted to the White House with a new budget—for $50,000,000,000—which military leaders are sure is more than can be spent by the end of 1952. Yet the White House sent it back to the Pentagon because the political hitherlings thought it was too low.

The Defense department pays for weapons only upon delivery. Nobody expects a 50 per cent increase in arms production during 1952, which is what it would take just to empty the till of 1951 money.

Of the three services, the army is in the best shape weaponwise. The Air Force and Navy, contrary to reports, still hicker bitterly over who is going to spend more money for aircraft and other equipment. The root of the trouble is still the old argument over strategic aircraft, with one group in the Pentagon convinced that all big bombers should be junked as useless.

The Navy wants more planes and bigger ones, and more aircraft carriers. The Air Force insists this is strategic suicide and is demanding still bigger bombers, with a fighter grip on the atom bomb. The Air Force has, however, cut back sharply on its plans for running Russia with strategic bombardment bases. The plan would have cost billions for airfields and maintenance—money that would have had to come from funds set aside for big bombers.

The nation is less secure because of the squabbling and indecision, but Mr. Truman's fiscal policies will look like good politics to the voters because of the delays. With a surplus in the treasury, and such roles," Replies Dan:

"From a weak type of heavy, I was fortunate enough to get into the 'Riffs,' everything that crawls. They've put hot groceries on my table for years. I've been happy to do 'em. An actor is in business for himself and his family. Heavy parts also must be done."

Walter Winchell on Broadway

Winchell

Winchell Only a few intimates know of his rigid diet. . . . The Duchess of W. (she's dyed her hair a very dark red) and her protegee of last season, Russell Nye, are in one of those inept misunderstandings. He denies the persistent buzz that they "are on the outs," but others give that the "uh-huh" . . . One of the nation's best known disaffection columnists is taking instructions for Catholicism. From the same source who converted Heywood Brown . . . W. Wanger's brother, the Wall Streeter, flew out there to lend a hand and his fortune . . . Cornelius and Alf Vanderbilt purchased a huge tract of land near Sarasota (Fla.) which could mean a new Florida racetrack . . . Joan Crawford is trying to help Franchot keep his chin up. It may be a hefty role in her next film.

Your report Sunday night about songstress Betty George flinging a pitcher of ice water in the face of Shamrock Hotel ringsider George Echols wasn't fully told, he says. Mr. Echols, a millionaire, isn't miffed with you. He admits it, but fears you were doing "for publicity," etc. Local friends say he is a doll when sober . . . Those photos of John L. Lewis (with dirty face from going down in the mine), which made editors bite in front page style—have his press agents hugging themselves . . . Joe DiMaggio can name his own price to star on Pepsi's teevy program.

No Comment Dept. This Paris date-lined news story (Dec. 26th) was bylined Ernie Hill in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and other papers: "Edith Sampson, noted Negro attorney of Chicago, says she is tired of hearing Josephine Baker malign the United States and praise France for its handling of race problems. Mrs. Sampson, however, on a special State Dept. assignment, claims that the singer is 'mentally dishonest' in praising France for its policies. 'She is obviously thinking only about herself,' stated Mrs. Sampson. 'She should stop and consider what France is doing to some 45 million Negroes in its African colonies. These people suffer much more than does Miss Baker in Atlanta or New York. In the U. S. we are at least making an honest effort to eradicate racial barriers. When France tries to do one-tenth as much I will be willing to listen to Miss Treasury administration orators will have a firm peg for a lot of high-flown oratory. But it will be a hoax.

All the defense material now on order must be paid for sometime, even if it is a year late. New orders are coming up at the monthly rate of $2,000,000,000. So however juicy the June surplus may seem, it will vanish when and if the military starts getting real deliveries.

The end result will be a treasury deficit and demands for more taxes. In 1951 the biggest single tax increase in the nation's history was added on us taxpayers. It amounted to $9,000,000,000. And it isn't enough to pay for all the spending when and if production catches up with Defense department demands.

The need for new taxes, unless non-defense spending is cut sharply, is the honest political reality in 1952—not a temporary treasury surplus. Some estimates are that we will have to add $13,000,000,000 more to the tax burden to pay for White House plans. So keep this in mind when the oratory starts flowing in 1952.

Baker's complaints".

We are getting mail from people who read too fast, again. This time over the quote that American churches hold the record for segregating whites and Negroes.

You distinctly credited the source (which was the Christian Herald), but writers, editorialists and readers keep saying you said it. Oh, you poor man. Fighting in all the preliminaries as well as The Main Bout . . . Merle Oberon and Dr. Rex Ross (whose wife married Elliott Roosevelt) mutually cancelled their merger plans . . . ment is serious. May mean surgery in 6 weeks. All personal appearances cancelled . . . Explorer Osa Johnson's new dreamboat is a Park Ave. psychoanalyst. Happy sailing, sister.

Talk about town is that Equity quietly "reprimanded" Gloria Swanson for her outspoken poke at the show she stars in. "Conduct unbecoming a member." This probably made Gloria laugh right out loud . . . Marian Dresser's holiday cards are signed with her maiden name. So chums suspect she got a secret divorce from Brad after their 5-year experiment apart. Her next groom, I hear, may be F. Brotherton of Southampton .

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Statistics certainly is a wonderful science.

You, Mr. American, have just been reduced to a statistic by the Census Bureau—and if you want to be the "Average American," then these are your measurements.

The Census Bureau says that you, Mr. A. A., are a white native, thirty years old and have a wife and two youngsters. (Although a couple of days ago it gave a different figure.)

You live in a mortgaged one-family home in an urban area. You own an automobile, a mechanical refrigerator and a radio, and you have a telephone.

You have no television set, but your kids are pestering you for one. You have an income of $3,000.

By some odd method of reckoning the Bureau's figures seem to show that you were only two years younger in 1940 than you were in 1950.

However, that may only be my way of figuring mathematics, a subject in which, as I have told you before and as you have probably noticed yourself, I am extremely non-efficient.

But the Census Bureau says that you, Mr. A. A., who are thirty years old today, were twenty-eight ten years ago.

You made $1,200 a year then, most likely rented your home, owned a car, refrigerator and radio.

There was no television then and there was no atomic bomb.

However, the Bureau warns you not to be too optimistic about that increase of $1,800 over your income in 1940.

The 1950 income is figured in Truman dollars, which, as you know, are worth 70% less than the dollars of ten years ago.

If you don't want to take MY word for this last remark, ask your butcher.

On one more thing about you. In 1940 you, Mr. A. A., had finished the eighth grade in grammar school. In 1950 you had a little more than one year in High school.

And since, in 1952, you should have had two more years of practical education in economics—such as how to get mink coats, how to fix the tax people, how to get free trips to Europe and to the race tracks, you should be much wiser in the coming election than you were in 1940.

By the way, since we are on the subject of statistics, Purchasing Magazine has just made a survey among its readers, all of whom are purchasing agents.

It asked them whether they think that business ethics in this country are declining just as political morals have declined.

Fifty-one per cent of those asked replied that there has been a general deterioration of ethical standards and conduct in business practices during the last few years.

"Purchasing agents ought to know," says the item. "They are the ones usually approached with propositions for kick-backs and favors."

The Roquefort Association has just sent me a five pound package of delicious imported Roquefort cheese. A few months ago I wrote something in my column about liking Roquefort cheese.

Should I send it back?

By H. I. Phillips

The President and the Barber ("President Truman on his recent trip home got a haircut from his Kansas City barber and old comrade in arms, Frank Spina.") —News item.

Barber—You just want a good trimming, Harry?

Harry—Don't put it in those words, please. But that's about it. Don't make it too close on the sides.

Barber—You look better with a close cut, Harry.

Harry—Don't give me an argument. I would like to feel that my barber is one fellow who doesn't.

Barber—How are things with you in Washington?

Harry—So so. They could be worse and they could be better.

Barber—Gee, things are pretty soft with you . . . Key West . . . balmy weather . . . tropical skies and a swim every day.

Harry—Frank, you're the one who has it soft. You can be your own boss, do what you please, say what you like and know real happiness. I sometimes wish I had been a barber and owned a little two-chair shop.

Barber—You wouldn't like it.

Harry—The hell I wouldn't! I like to imagine it . . . a nice little shop with "H. Truman, Proprietor" over the door, "No Waiting" . . . Good hours, easy work and the right to say whatever I felt like saying, oh boy! Did you ever stop to think, Frank, how you would feel if you were in my shoes and had to go into a huddle with advisers before you gave your opinion on anything?

Barber—I never quite thought of that.

Harry—Try to picture it . . . I drop in for a shave and haircut and you naturally want to discuss the rumor Tom Jones skipped town or the story Joe Whoozzy eloped with Fred Smith's girl. You can't blurt it all out. You have to call in five secretaries, a couple of cabinet officers and a ghost writer to go over everything first and decide just how far you should go. Before you can say a word you have to check and see just what Tom Jones' position in the community is and how many votes Smith can swing.

Barber—When that happens to the barber business I quit.

Harry—In a case like this you may know Tom Jones is a heel and that he stole Smith's girl, double-crossing him, completely. But your ghost writers and advisers insist that you don't say a word to offend either side.

Barber—You're exaggerating. I still think it must be pretty nice being President and having a yacht, a four-motor airplane and a great big house in Washington. What have I got? Just a few razors, some soap and some scissors.

Harry—Frankie, you don't know how well off you are. A razor never makes you seaseak and you never have to worry about a pair of scissors making a forced landing in a fog. I'll swap the Presidency for a two-chair barber shop any time.

Barber—We're old army buddies, Harry and you can't kid me. You love your job and you'd be running for it again next year. Be honest, ain't it so?

Harry—Shave the neck, please. Barber (after an awkward pause)—It's getting a little thin on top.

Harry—You're telling me!

Does he say tenderly, "Darling, I love you," or sharply, "Now then, do you or do you not observe my mood of devotion, and if so how long has this been evident?" If the lady of his heart shyly begins with a faltering, "Well, when I first noticed it I said to a girl friend . . . "does he say, "Never mind what you said to a girl friend. That is inadmissible at this time?" And at any point does he say, "I told

No Highway Deaths Noted In Borough

Some 883 arrests, citations and detentions were made by Stroudsburg borough police in 1951, Chief John McConnell said yesterday.

Of the 883 total, McConnell's yearly report showed traffic violations accounted for 764, with the 119 balance laid to arrests and detentions.

Sale of permits and collection of fines brought the borough $3,232.

Accidents numbered 130, an increase of nine over 1950. Damages were estimated at over $100 in 57 of the accidents, under $100 in 73.

Five pedestrians were struck by cars, with one, a child, seriously injured. One girl bicyclist rider suffered minor injuries when hit by an auto. There were no fatal accidents involving motor vehicles during the year, the report shows.

The patrol car covered 16,812 miles in the borough during the year, and the police motorcycle 1,037 miles.

Officers received 710 emergency police calls through the "police light system" operated by the borough of the Bell Telephone Co., McConnell said.

Breaking down the arrests and detentions, McConnell gave the following figures: disorderly conduct was the biggest headache, with 62; drunkenness, 27; assault and battery, 6; burglary, 2; larceny, 4; and b. & b. 3 AWOL from the Army, 4 discharging firearms in the borough, 1; setting off firecrackers in the borough, 1; incorrigible child, 1; selling sparklers to children, 1; passing worthless checks, 1; desertion and non-support of minor children, 2; escapes from state industrial school, 2; riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, 1; amnesia victim, 1.

As for motor vehicle violations, forgetful residents were as usual the major offenders. Some 482 were ticketed for failing to use parking meters properly.

Next largest group of violators were the 96 cited for parking in "no parking zones." Another 48 were ticketed for parking overnight in restricted zones.

There were 47 speeders cited; red light signal violations, 25; stop street violations, 18; overloaded trucks passing through the borough, 14; parking on the sidewalk, 8.

Of the more serious traffic offenses, there were eight arrests for drunken driving, three for operating without a license. There were 15 citations for miscellaneous minor offenses.

Most of the money collected through sale of permits and collection of fines came from the fines—$2,692 of the total.

Sales netted the following: 20 peddler's licenses, $240; five garage permits, $175 collected; 10 electric sign permits, $50; five permits for Sunday baseball, $25; and two "closing-out sale" licenses, $50.

Chief McConnell said 577 transient lodgers were accommodated at the borough lockup during the year.

Parking meters came in for their share of bumps and bruises, according to McConnell's report; seven were damaged. Those responsible settled or are in the process of settling for a total of $109.30. Settlement for damage to other borough fixtures and traffic signs totals $68.60.

The chief said 41 property owners were instructed to lay new curb and gutter in front of their property, eight were told to lay new sidewalks, and seven to make sidewalk or curbing repairs.

President Renews Plea To CIO To Cancel Strike Plans

Atlantic City, AP—President Truman asked the CIO Steelworkers anew yesterday to cancel any steel strike plans, and the union gave every indication it will comply.

A message from Mr. Truman addressed to "Dear Phil" Murray, head of the CIO and the Steelworkers union, was read to a specially-summoned union convention empowered to act on strike plans.

Murray was reported ready to recommend that the nearly 3,000 delegates erase the walkout threat. It was considered certain the convention would follow Murray's wish, at least until the Wage Stabilization board suggests a compromise, solution to the union's unsettled wage demands.

Murray's recommendation on what course the union should take, and the convention action on that recommendation, was put over until today's final session.

For more than three hours yesterday afternoon convention delegates, one after another, arose to criticize sharply industry bargaining tactics. They called for revision of many contract clauses to correct what they termed serious recurring grievances in the steel mills.

Individual delegates gaining the floor said they were willing to "hit the bricks," or strike, but felt it would be best to avoid a walkout now as Mr. Truman has asked and see what the WSB decides.

The President said the needs for steel are so pressing any production loss would "have an immediate and crippling effect on mobilization schedules."

The wage stabilization board (WSB) has an initial hearing in the steel wage case scheduled for next Monday in Washington, and Murray has said he intends to be there—a tip-off in itself there will be no strike.

13 Educators To Evaluate Bangor Schools

Bangor—B. Anton Hess, principal of Wilson Borough High School, was named to head a 13-member "evaluation committee" which will conduct a study of Bangor schools January 15, 16, and 17. It was announced last night at a meeting of the Bangor Board of Education.

The committee, made up of prominent educators and instructors in public schools in this area, consists of the following men and women: Janet L. Bender, Stroudsburg High School; Edward Bosman, Barrett Township School; George Bunnell, Tunkhannock Township High School; Robert T. Cook, Mahanoy City High School; John T. Downey, Shenandoah High School; Joseph Fink, Allentown Central Catholic High School; Robert T. Fleming, Boyertown; Esther C. Frey, Whitehall Township School; Edna Handwork, Birdsboro High School; Prof. Gilbert McKleven, Lebanon Valley College; Alice McMahon, Clark Summit High School and Lester Seaman, Honesdale High School.

In other actions last night, the council voted to charge the Bee Hive Youth center $60 per night for the use of the High school auditorium for presentation of the center's fifth annual minstrel show Feb. 12 and 13. Prior to this action the Youth center was given use of the auditorium free of charge.

The board approved a contract with Olympic Athletic Equipment Co., East Stroudsburg, for the reconditioning of equipment on hand. Renamed by the board to their positions for the coming year were: Granville Evans, head coach, football; Paul Wagner, assistant coach, and Thomas Fee, coach of the junior-varsity team.

Organized Gambling Appears On Wane In Eastern Counties

Organized gambling in this section of Pennsylvania is apparently on the wane, reports from the office of Internal Revenue Collector Joseph T. McDonald, Scranton, indicated yesterday.

Mr. McDonald disclosed that eight taxpayers filed income tax returns totaling $1,399.36 which represented ten per cent of their gross earnings during November for handling wagers.

Six of the group marked their returns "final," which officials said indicates they are no longer engaged in taking wagers.

None of the six reporting is from Monroe County.

Two are from Luzerne County and the remainder in Northampton County.

All of the eight previously purchased the $50 federal stamp required of those who receive any income from professional gambling.

Previous checks at the office of Mr. McDonald showed none of these $50 stamps was purchased by an individual in Monroe County.

The new tax on gambling is sending a trickle of cash into the U. S. Treasury but it is too early to say whether the trickle will swell to a big flow.

An Associated Press survey disclosed last night that the government has taken in more than $265,000, but most of the registered betting parlors are still to be heard from, not to speak of the unregistered ones.

The $265,000 figure is based on incomplete reports from about half the 48 states. Since the levy is 10 per cent, the $265,000 represents about $2,650,000 in bets made on horse races, punchboards and other gambles since the law went into effect Nov. 1.

It's a good bet, however, that the figure is a drop in the bucket compared to what has been wagered around the country in the last 60 days.

Many gamblers are reported to have gone deeper underground, for one thing. And only a scattering of the gamblers who registered and bought the occupational tax stamps have thus far paid any taxes. In Kansas, for instance, the take was only $23.40. There are 59 gamblers registered in southern California, but only three have filed returns, the collector's office at Los Angeles reported.

The tax is 10 per cent of the "handle"—that is, 10 per cent of the gambler's gross business. Returns are required monthly.

When the law was passed by Congress last Fall its backers estimated it would yield 400 million dollars a year. This runs to well over 30 million dollars a month.

Many gamblers, it has been reported, have been squeezed out of business at least temporarily. Their dilemma is this: If they registered and exposed themselves as gamblers they were liable to prosecution under local anti-gambling laws; if they refused to register they would be violating Federal tax laws.

River Starts Falling After 18-Inch Rise

An 18-inch rise in the Delaware river during the 24-hour period ending at 8 last night had been noted at two check points along the river's course.

Officials at both the Delaware and Portland bridges said increases in water level amounted to an "approximate foot and a half" following the mid-week rains and thaw.

At the Portland bridge, officials reported the water level stood at five feet, three inches last night following a slow fall in level early last night. At Delaware bridge, Delaware, N. J., the level was also receding slightly.

Danger of flood stages was considered "highly remote" by officials at Portland bridge where the flood level stands at 18 feet.

Further insurance against possible flooding was contained in last night's weather forecast for this area which said, in part, "... colder with a low of 15 to 20 in the west and north portions, 20 to 25 in the southeast. Friday continued cloudy and moderately cold." Below freezing temperatures will, of course, slow down the flow of water from melting snow and ice in the mountain regions, thus retarding the river's rise.

CBS Baritone To Appear In Variety Show

Chester Lawrence, leading baritone of the CBS radio network and concert star, has been scheduled to appear at the All Star Variety show sponsored by Temple Israel on the night of January 16 at the Stroudsburg High school auditorium.

The rich and mellow tones produced by Mr. Lawrence are known from coast to coast by all who listen in on CBS stations and by concert devotees. Mr. Lawrence sings both operatic and popular numbers and his renditions of "One Enchanted Evening" and "Ole Man River" invariably "bring down the house" wherever he sings.

Possessor of a "big" voice, his musical artistry and personable stage presence have won him the plaudits of critics everywhere. Those who will attend the All Star show are in for a genuine musical treat for it is just that to hear Lawrence sing.

General admission tickets to the variety show and concert are now on sale to the public at the following places: Ted Getz, Clothier, 562 Main St., Newman's Dress Shop, 615 Main St., Newman's Dress Shop, 629 Main St. (all in Stroudsburg) and Koster's Variety store, 57 Crystal St., the Rex Auto store, 85 Crystal St. and Mason's Lullaby Lane, S. Courtland, opposite the A&P (all in East Stroudsburg).

Because of the limited number of seats available it is suggested that those planning to attend purchase their tickets as soon as possible.

Windup Of Seal Drive In Progress

Some 2,000 follow-up appeal letters have been mailed by Monroe County Tuberculosis Society to county residents, asking them to help the society close out its 1951 seal-sale campaign for $8,000.

If half of them responded—and though all of them received blocks of the colorful Christmas seals—the required $8,000 budget will be met and the society will be able to again proceed with its plans to provide chest x-rays for the students, teachers, athletes of the county's high schools and to carry out new anti-tuberculosis projects already budgeted.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming said receipts to date show the budget is lacking just $1,000 to be complete.

Blocks of Christmas seals or bonds were mailed to 8,549 persons.

Response, with payment for seals, came from about 3,100. Approximately one-third of those who received free chest x-rays under sponsorship of the society during 1951 responded during the campaign and purchased Christmas seals.

Among the new anti-tuberculosis projects already budgeted by directors of the society is a plan to provide free chest x-rays for every patient admitted to the General hospital during a six months period.

Details of this effort are in the process of being established now with authorities at the hospital. It will mean that every person admitted will be carefully checked for traces of tuberculosis, a disease which very often is never discovered until it is well advanced.

"It is most important that we clean up our campaign on a note of success because of the vital work on health programs services we have planned for the people of Monroe county," Mrs. Fleming said.

Jo Davidson, World Famous Sculptor, Dies

Paris, (AP)—Funeral services for Jo Davidson, the world famed American sculptor who died of a heart attack Wednesday night at Tours, will be held at 11:00 a. m. (5 a. m. EST) Tuesday in the American cathedral, friends of the family said last night. Burial will be in Paris.

The 61-year-old bearded sculptor was stricken at Becheron, the estate he owned at Azy-Le-Rideau, near Tours. He was taken to the clinic for emergency treatment and died four hours later.

In a lifetime of artistic work Davidson made statues of many of the world's leading figures, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mohandas K. Gandhi, Premier Marshal Tito, and top personalities in World War One and Two.

His wife, the former Florence Gertrude Lucius whom he married in 1941, said he had suffered heart attacks several times before, but they had all been of a minor nature. She was at his bedside when he died.

Davidson rose from New York's lower east side tenements to the top level of his profession. He was of Russian-Jewish extraction.

Firemen Set Feb. 22 For Annual Dance

Plans are being completed for the annual dance of the Stroudsburg Fire department—Phoenix and Chemical companies—which will be held at the Penn-Stroud hotel Washington's birthday, Friday night, February 22, to which the general public is invited.

Arch Rundle is chairman of the committee of arrangements composed of members of the two sponsoring companies. Tickets for the event will be in the mail shortly, it was disclosed last night.

The dance will get under way at 9 p.m. Music will be furnished by Lew Stanley's orchestra. Additional features will also be included in the night's program, the committee announced.

As is customary, a special program booklet is being prepared by firemen.

At the meeting of the Chemical company this week, a proposition for membership was received. It was also announced that Acme Hose Co., No. 1, East Stroudsburg, would make the arrangements for celebrating the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, which falls on January 17, by attending Sunday morning services in an East Stroudsburg church.

Hailstones have fallen which weighed a pound or more each.

Receipts At Postoffices In Twin Boroughs Show $19,000 Increase During Past 12 Months

Both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg U. S. postoffices showed sizable gains in receipts during the past twelve months.

Comparative figures released by the two borough postoffices show gains for Stroudsburg of $12,799.82 in receipts over the previous year, East Stroudsburg postoffice had a dollars-and-cents gain of $6,219.68.

The east borough office, however, continued to top Stroudsburg in volume of business. For 1951, total receipts for East Stroudsburg were $476,677.78 as opposed to $130,245.39 for the Stroudsburg office.

Stroudsburg receipts for 1950 were $117,445.57. Total cancellations for the year at the Stroudsburg post office were 2,644,777. The office had 451,292 cancellations for the month of December as compared to 432,893 for the preceding year.

The East Stroudsburg postoffice continued to rank among the "top 25 postoffices in the State" showing total receipts in excess of $400,000. Of this number, the east borough office is estimated to be in "about 19th position by its officials."

Receipts during the past four years show the east borough office continued its steady increase in volume of business.

Comparative figures are: 1951—$476,677.78; 1950—$470,458.10; 1949—$421,004.05; 1948—$367,266.62.

Receipts for the final 1951 quarter, including the months of October, November and December, were tallied at $129,244.10.

Cancellations at the east borough office cannot be listed as an accurate depiction of that office's business since there are a total of eight "meter machines" in operation at all times.

The marked difference in volume of receipts between the two offices is due to the heavy use of mails by printing firms and other industries in the east borough area.

Treasury Position

Washington, (AP)—Treasury position Dec. 29. Net budget receipts $103,253,863.00. Budget expenditures $83,164,616.21. Cash balance $4,294,675,234.68. Total debt $259,460,778,794.34. Increase over previous day $137,487,706.40.

The office of Dr. Kurt Philippsberg will be closed Dec. 21st to Jan. 7th, 1952.—Adv.

Mr., Mrs. George Walter Honored On Golden Wedding

Shawnee—Mr. and Mrs. George Walter, of Shawnee, who were married fifty years ago on Christmas day, were the guests of honor at an anniversary party held at the home of their son, Elwood, at Marshalls Creek.

Present to pay them tribute were their three sons, Sterling, Elwood and Fred, and their families which include six grandchildren and two great grandchildren. All of the children and grandchildren were home with the exception of one granddaughter.

A Christmas dinner was served at noon and they received many gifts.

The Walters have lived their entire married life in Shawnee where they share in many phases of community life, including work in the Shawnee Presbyterian church. It was a former pastor of the Shawnee church, Rev. Mr. Black, who performed their wedding ceremony fifty years ago at the home of the bride in Resaca.

The bride, the former Elizabeth Strunk, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Strunk, and her father was associate judge of Monroe county for some time. Her sister, Mrs. Joseph Bennett, and her brother, Moses Strunk, who had served as their attendants at their wedding, were also present for the golden wedding celebration.

Mr. Walter was born in Shawnee, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Walter. His father for 60 years farmed the Bob DePul farm, which is now Fred Warner's home, and site of the earliest settlement in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Celebrates Birthday On New Year's Eve

Bushkill — A birthday party was held on New Year's eve at the home of Sara Mae Messerle, Bushkill, in honor of her cousin, Lila Mae Ladlee, who was sixteen years old. Lila Mae received many gifts, and cards and two birthday cakes.

Dancing and television were enjoyed and a buffet lunch was served at midnight.

The following were guests: Katherine Reidmiller, Judy Ladlee, Marlys Messerle, Kerry Messerle, Dick Newton, Sara Mae Messerle, Paul Anderson, and the guest of honor.

Also bringing their congratulations were Mr. and Mrs. Foster Ladlee and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Messerle.

Fidelia Class Entertained At Buck Home

The Fidelia class of St. John's Lutheran church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Lillian Buck, 83 Bridge St., Pocono Park, during the Christmas holidays. The house was gaily decorated and the members presented an electric toaster to their teacher, Mrs. Miles Green, and exchanged gifts with each other.

Christmas stories and legends were told, and refreshments were served with Mrs. Margaret Stabenow as co-hostess.

During the business meeting officers were elected for the coming year with Mrs. LaDora Bocar as president; Mrs. Mary Hamlen, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Knapp, secretary; Mrs. Natalie Stackhouse, treasurer.

Other members present included Mrs. Dorothy Marsh, Mrs. Mildred Renninger, Mrs. Mildred Miller, Mrs. Goldie Marsh, Mrs. Sadie Lyons, Mrs. Marjorie Barnes, Mrs. Ethel Meyer and Mrs. Dorothy Rupert, the new officers and the hostesses.

G. S. Council Plans Winter Activities

The Monroe County Council of Girl Scouts held its quarterly meeting following a covered dish supper at the Girl Scout house on Thursday night. In the absence of the chairman of the board, Mrs. Harold C. Edwards, Mrs. Camille Harvey, executive secretary, presided.

Mrs. William G. Miller reported for the camping committee, and announcement was made of the gift of $10 for the camp fund from Brownie Troop 7 of which Mrs. Helen Teeter is leader. The Brownies raised the money through cookie sales.

Plans were also announced for a private roller-skating party for the Girl Scouts and other girls whom they invite to be held January 21, at the Stroud Roller skating rink. Proceeds from the skating party will be used for the camp fund.

Also announced at the meeting was the gift of $200 from Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Weiss, to be used for the Girl Scout House fund for paying off one of the house bonds.

Leaders were asked to send at once to Dr. Madelon Powers, chairman of the Juliette Lowe committee, the names of the representatives from each troop. A Juliette Lowe meeting will be held January 15 at 4 p. m. at the Girl Scout house, and each troop is asked to have a representative there at that meeting.

Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Stanley Hartman and Mrs. Laura Bauscher were in charge of supper arrangements.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, I got my trip all right—right straight back to the office to remake the whole social page at 11 o'clock at night when they discovered none of the pictures could be used. Reminds you of these fairy stories where the hero foolishly misuses his three magic wishes.

Seems to me, too, that I was wishing the ashes and the mud would vanish. Well, they did—under some nice, slippery, new snow and ice on which Mrs. Joseph Noonan fell and broke her hand, which shows how the innocent suffer.

I'm almost afraid to make that third wish. Now the Dorcas circle has a much more sensible plan. They're going to take their trip through their programs during which they'll stop at various interesting points in South America — and without passport or visa.

And the Garden clubs members are planning to hustle spring along by going to the Flower Shows, and the Girl Scouts are going roller-skating to bring their camp site a step closer.

If we were in any position to make morals we might decide that he who harnesses his dreams arrives that much sooner at his destination.

And the sooner we get that Christmas tree down, the sooner we'll realize that the holidays are over and it's time to get to work.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVFO, 10:05 a.m.

Shirley Bruch First Bride Of New Year

The first Monroe county wedding of the new year was performed last night in the parsonage of the Zion Evangelical and Reformed church when Shirley Smith Bruch became the bride of John A. Albertson.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith of 170 North Courtland St., wore a dress of steel blue satin with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Glenn Smith, who wore a beige suit, with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Glenn Smith served as best man for Mr. Albertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Albertson, of Bushkill.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Albertson attended East Stroudsburg High school. Mrs. Albertson is now employed at Art Metal, and Mr. Albertson is serving with the U. S. Navy, stationed at present in New Jersey.

Mrs. Albertson will remain here with her parents until her husband completes his term of enlistment.

Altar Board Makes Plans For Jan. Meeting

The executive board of the Altar and Rosary society of St. Matthew's held its monthly meeting at the Penn-Stroud last Wednesday night. Mrs. George Rung, president, presided.

Devotions in honor of "Our Lady of Fatima" will be held the first Saturday of the month, Jan. 5, with exposition of the blessed sacrament from 3:30 p. m. until 8:30 p. m.

The program for the regular meeting of the society, Jan. 23, will be announced later by Mrs. Paul Kennedy, program chairman. Mrs. R. Hermanns is hospitality chairman for the month, and Mrs. Walter Arnold and Mrs. Harold Huffsmith, ways and means chairmen, will hold a parcel post sale after the business meeting.

Those present at the board meeting were: Mrs. Chas. McCarthy, Mrs. Paul Kennedy, Mrs. John Kolcun, Mrs. Ted Vlechnicki, Mrs. Richard Wolslayer, Mrs. Harold Goldy, Mrs. Joseph Chobey, Miss Rose Coco, Miss Lois Moore.

Party Sunday

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

A particularly pleasant phase of my work is to greet all the people who come into the store each day bearing cards from the Welcome Wagon. The Welcome Wagon is, as you know, a method chosen by certain local merchants to meet new families in this area, and to offer congratulations to others who are celebrating some special occasion such as the arrival of a new baby, the announcement of a betrothal, or the observance of a golden wedding anniversary.

It's interesting to talk with these people . . . and it's especially exciting to meet the newcomers who are invariably amazed at the size of Wyckoff's and the endless variety of services offered here. They express surprise as I list for them those numerous unseen departments devoted to the making of awnings, venetian blinds, draperies, slip covers, and especially-designed picture frames for everything from the simplest prints to the most exquisite paintings. These people are impressed, too, with the size of our Sears store, and the fact that any item of merchandise in the Sears catalogue can be brought here within a few days of the order being filed. "I never dreamed," they say over and over again, "that Wyckoff's was like THIS."

Many of them have been in the store prior to receiving the Welcome Wagon visit, and they tell us glowing and much-appreciated stories of the services rendered them. One woman said recently, "I came in just at the height of the Christmas rush and needed something which took quite a little time, but the saleslady was so nice you would have thought I was the only one who needed her help." That same story was repeated almost verbatim the other morning on the Wyckoff Shopper broadcast when we called a Delaware Water Gap resident.

I never tell the newcomers, of course, but I dare say that any number of persons who have always lived here may never have realized how versatile Wyckoff's is. They may not know of our furniture re-finishing department, our hotel supplies department, and our 24-hour repair service which keeps Wyckoff-Sears appliances running smoothly always. How well do you know Wyckoff's? Maybe we should be better acquainted.

Claude E. Metzgar To Begin New Career At 60 When He Leaves County Position Next Monday

(This is the second in a series on the men assuming new posts in the county or leaving old ones—what they hope to accomplish, or for retiring officials, what they think of their record of service.)

Prothonotary Claude E. Metzgar is about to start a new career at the age of 60.

Monday he will wind up 12 years of service as county prothonotary, will then join the staff of the Worthington Mower Co., Stroudsburg.

The young-looking grandfather (nine children, 13 grandchildren) started as neither county officer nor businessman. After attendance at Barrett township schools, he went to Polytechnic Institute at Gilbert, then Pennsylvania State College.

Object: to become a county agent.

After digesting years of agricultural preparation, he was graduated—to find that the county agent jobs were all filled. That year—1911—he took up full time the teaching he had been doing all along at Barrett township grammar schools.

Before he was through with teaching, he became principal at the Stroud township grammar

Claude E. Metzgar school and at Mountainhome grammar school.

Taking a post as equipment clerk on the 1931 payroll of the State Highway department, Metzgar rose to the position of assistant county superintendent of highways by the time he decided to run for prothonotary.

"I was always interested in politics," he said yesterday at his desk in the prothonotary's office. "I've been a Democratic committeeman in Northern Stroud for 33 years. For two terms—a total of four years—I was chairman of the county Democratic party, from '44 to '48."

Metzgar was elected to the prothonotary's office in 1940.

"You should have seen it when I first took office," he smiled. "There was one splintery wooden desk in this room—that I used to tear my clothes on all the time. There was a lot of very old equipment, but we got rid of that."

"The files were a mess, but let me say the whole credit for straightening out the files goes to Mrs. Ridgeway. She worked day and night until the job was done." Florence Ridgeway, deputy prothonotary, in May will observe her 30th anniversary of service at the court house.

Between them, Metzgar and Mrs. Ridgeway tunneled through the chaos, arranged a filing system and routine which permitted attorneys to find what they needed without loss of time.

Metzgar's health might be the envy of men half his age. "In 12 years in office I've never once been absent or tardy for a single court session," he said. "That speaks pretty well for my health, doesn't it?" he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Metzgar have lived at Analomink for 39 years.

St. John's Contributes To Funds

At the monthly meeting of the Vestry of St. John's Lutheran church Wednesday night it was announced by the treasurer, Clarence S. Kitchen, that the congregation had met its apportionment to the synod and the United Lutheran church in full for the year 1951 and had overpaid its quota on Lutheran World Action which provides service centers for persons in the armed forces and has been engaged in relief work in Europe, Africa and Korea. It was also announced that the congregation had paid more than four thousand dollars on the Christian Higher Education appeal of the United Lutheran church.

Plans were furthered for the celebration of the 85th anniversary of the congregation and the 25th anniversary of the present pastorate to be held the week of April 27 to May 4. Outstanding speakers and sons of the congregation who are in the ministry have been secured.

The approval of several new members was given. These persons will be received Sunday morning at the Communion service. The A. F. Everett class has consented to serve refreshments at the annual congregational meeting to be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the church school rooms.

Great Britain's public debt as of March 31, 1951, was approximately $72,251,908,000.

Approximately five-eighths of the area of Panama is unoccupied.

Power windmills practically disappeared with the coming of small gasoline engines.

DL&W Closes Binghamton Freight Center

Lackawanna railroad plans to close the Binghamton freight distribution points as of Jan. 14 and shift its operations to Scranton, J. Hampton Baumgartner, public relations director for the carrier reported yesterday.

The plan will throw 40 employees in the "less than carload" operation out of work. It was made because of a drop in business. Reports here last night indicated there are no openings for the 40 men in Scranton.

Reports indicated business dropped from 600 tons per day to less than 300 tons. The Binghamton business suffered, observers said, from the inauguration of air freight service to the new Broome County-Airport.

Binghamton city and Chamber of Commerce officials are opposed to the company's plan.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

During the past ten days there have been many little items coming to my attention that I believe will be interesting to the sports fans within the circulation area of The Daily Record, although not one of them is important enough on which to devote an entire story. Often times it's this type of bit-which that uncovers one or two items that prove of utmost interest to the various athletic followers who take time out each day to read this jumble of words.

John Senkowsky, one of the most popular players to ever don the uniform of the Stroudsburg Poconos, was in town over the holidays to visit his old friend and teammate Walt "Hank" Polinski and to renew acquaintances with his many friends in this area. The Dickinson City resident pitched with the Poconos in 1946 and 1947 before an arm ailment forced him out of action in the second season. However, John now reports the arm completely cured of the miseries.

Russell "Bucky" LeBar dropped this column a season's greeting from his army post in Germany. LeBar was in the number one football fan in East Stroudsburg—true fan that is. George Lall, coach at Greene-Dreher High school last year, teamed with Joe Serafini to officiate the Lafayette-Seranton game on Wednesday. Lafayette won the contest, 58-37. Speaking of Lafayette brings to mind the fact that one of its graduates, Ed Snyder, has his Wilson Borough High court machine out in front of the Lehigh-Northampton League pack, with three wins in as many starts.

Snyder will be remembered by the fans of Monroe county as a utility infielder and reserve catcher for the Stroudsburg Poconos for a portion of the 1950 campaign and second baseman for East Bangor, regular season title holder in the Blue Mountain League last year. Although Wilson is currently pacing the circuit, the experts like Hellertown for the crown, especially after a victory over Easton High last week and the 50-48 decision over Coplay on Wednesday night of this week.

Sam Russell, well liked Stroudsburg court mentor, picks Catastrophe as the best team in the Lehigh Valley League, despite the fact that Whitehall won the Lehigh Valley League tournament at Slatington last week. Russell credits fighting spirit with the victory for the Zephyrs, who took the measure of the more highly regarded Kough Riders, 62-53. Spirit can often times make up for the lack of ability and its presence in abundance is responsible for some of the sensational upsets scored each year on the field of athletic combat.

Although Russell rates Catty as the number one quintet, he's quick to point out that Palmetton, tonight's foe, will be right in the running this year for the crown that the Bombers took home last year. Russell informed this column that Palmetton gave Allentown more trouble than the club was credited with recently. According to this information the remainder of the Lehigh Valley circuit can expect plenty of trouble from Catastrophe. Palmetton and Whitehall before the present campaign passes into history.

George Metropoulos, who is doing a great job as athletic director at the Monroe County YMCA, is still plagued with teams who refuse to show up for scheduled games. It seems to me that some fellows who have signed up for basketball at the Y this year would do better forgetting all about the game. I have often wondered why fellows who actually aren't interested in taking part in the sport indicate their willingness to join a league or even a team for that matter.

Only three clubs are certain starters in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League at the present time, although Al Sterner, president of the circuit, is hopeful of adding a fourth club in the near future. Only one team is to be represented in the West End of the county, where two operated last year, while Tannersville and Tobyhanna, annual powers, are also back in the running this season. However, such clubs as Pocono Lake, Barrett and Anolomink are conspicuous by their absence at the present time. However, every effort possible is being made to keep the circuit intact.

Al "Tokyo" Bachman, well known in local athletic circles, will serve as chief cook and bottle washer at a deer steak dinner to be held at God's Little Acre, in Pike County, tomorrow night. The deer was shot during the season by Bernie "Doc" Helman. The entire Tobyhanna Township High school basketball team has been on hand to watch Coolbaugh High win its last two outings. It is quite possible that these two clubs may be battling it out for the Monroe County League championship this season. TTHS is about to launch its quest for a third straight title.

Polk High Falls Before Mauch Chunk's Power, 97-49

Invader Holds Upper Hand From Start

Kresgeville—Mauch Chunk High proved to be just too much of a basketball team for Polk High to handle last night, as the invading contingent ran up a 97-49 victory over the Monroe County League entry, on the loser's home court. It was the fourth loss in as many outings for the charges of Coach Art Smith.

The visiting Mauch Chunk junior varsity also won the preliminary encounter, 25-18, from the Polk yearlings, to make a clean sweep on their invasion of Monroe county.

Mauch Chunk, featuring a power packed attack, ran up 28 points in the first period, while Polk could account for only nine tallies. Only in the second period did the Kresgeville lads battle their opponents on even terms, but once again Mauch Chunk held a 16-15 edge in the scoring to lead at the halfway mark, 44-24.

Run Wild
The visiting Mauch Chunk contingent completely dominated the game in the second half, running up a 28-14 edge in the third stanza and a 25-13 advantage during the fourth and last quarter.

Mauch Chunk converted 11 of 15 attempts from the free-throw line, while Polk made good from the same distance on three of 12 tosses.

Harry Kreschel and Jim Scheller, with 16 and 15 markers respectively, were the big guns in a losing cause, but Tom Hewitt, with 39 tallies, on 19 field goals and one charity shot, ran wild in the scoring column for Mauch Chunk. These same two foes are scheduled to clash next Monday, on the Mauch Chunk hardwood.

West Virginia Upsets NYU

New York (AP)—West Virginia's fast-breaking Mountaineers pulled one of the season's biggest upsets last night, thrashing highly touted New York University, 100-75, to hand the Violets their first defeat after 12 straight victories at Madison Square Garden.

Long Shots
Two long set shots by David Steindler in the final 30 seconds gave the Mountaineers an even 100 points. In a desperate effort to protect their Garden record of 103 points they set last Thursday against Arizona, the Violets froze the ball most of the final minute although trailing by 25 points.

West Virginia, paced by six-foot, nine-inch Mark Workman and 6-foot, two and one-half inch Harry Moore, indicated early it was out to whip NYU.

Four Matches Listed

Four matches are listed for the Twin-Boro Ladies' league tonight, at the Pocono Bowling Center. Alleys one and two — Lawson Automotive vs National Drug. Alleys three and four — Weiderman's Feeds vs Monroe Distributor. Alleys five and six — Marsh's Foundry vs Thomas Funeral Home. Alleys seven and eight — Bartonville Hotel vs Ronson.

Seton Hall Wins

New York (AP)—Seton Hall College of South Orange, N. J., ran its unbeaten string to nine last night, defeating Western Kentucky, 77-65, in the second game of a college basketball double-header at Madison Square Garden.

Last Night's Hockey

National League
Montreal 4, Toronto 1
American League
Buffalo 4, Providence 3 (overtime).

Kansas Ace Leads In Scoring

New York (AP)—Big Clyde Lovellette, Kansas University's record-breaking center, yesterday held his national basketball scoring lead but an 18-year-old unknown from Louisiana State — Bob Pettit — is moving up fast on the Jayhawk star.

According to NCAA service bureau figures, Lovellette heads the field with a 27.3 average, made on 274 in ten games.

But Pettit, a six-foot-nine native of Baton Rouge, La., is making a strong bid to oust Lovellette from the lead. In seven games — Pettit has scored 179 points for a 25.6 average. His biggest barrage came against Mississippi on December 13, when he poured in 40 points to tie the Southeastern Conference record.

Eastburg, Stroudsburg Fives On Road Tonight

Cavaliers Risk Mark At Parkland

East Stroudsburg High school basketball team will put its perfect Lehigh-Northampton League record on the line tonight, when the Cavaliers tangle with a strong Parkland High contingent at the Little Palestra, in Allentown. It will be the first outing for the charges of Coach Dick Forster, since the Eastburg fives went down to a 39-38 setback at the hands of Stroudsburg, prior to the Christmas vacation.

Two games are on the agenda tonight, the junior varsity tussle

Standings	W	L	Pct.
Wilson Borough	3	0	1.000
Hellertown	2	0	1.000
East Stroudsburg	1	0	1.000
Parkland	1	1	.500
Pen Argyl	1	2	.333
Bangor	0	1	.000
Coplay	0	1	.000
Fountain Hill	0	1	.000
Nazareth	0	2	.000

being listed for 6:45 p.m. and the varsity battle at approximately 8:15.

East Stroudsburg's lone league outing this far this season featured a 33-25 victory over Nazareth. Outings with other circuit foes, namely Hellertown and Bangor, were postponed until later dates by inclement weather.

The Cavaliers are sporting an over-all record of one victory and the same number of defeats, counting the one-point setback at the hands of Stroudsburg High, in the most thrilling game played in Monroe county during the present campaign.

Although Forster wasn't available for comment last night, the popular court mentor is expected to stick by the same lineup that has carried the bulk of the load thus far.

This means that lanky Ray Steele will continue to operate at his center position, while Jack Tredinnick and Joe Chase handle the forward chores. Paul "Candy" Miller and Dick Newton will open the game in the defensive guard roles.

Parkland's last outing resulted in a 45-44 setback at the hands of Wilson Borough, on a last minute foul shot by the winning aggregation.

Middle Smithfield In Court Action

Middle Smithfield — Middle Smithfield school will open its 1952 basketball season today, with a doubleheader cage attraction slated for the Middle Smithfield hardwood.

Main Event
The main event will feature the school varsity, under the guidance of Coach Glenn Wallingford, doing battle with the All-Stars of Yesterday, captained by Sterling Schoonover. This tussle is listed for 8 p. m.

A preliminary contest, at 7, will bring together the Wildcats and Tigers.

Vejar Clashes With Bolanos

New York (AP)—Chico Vejar, a young writer on the way up, meets Enrique Bolanos, Los Angeles veteran who fought for the lightweight title three times, in tonight's ten-round feature at Madison Square Garden.

Favorite
Vejar is a lopsided 14 to 5 favorite in the bout, scheduled for 10 p. m. with network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coverage.

Commercial 'C' Rolls

Commercial "C" league kleglers swing into action at Harmon's Recreation tonight, at 9:15 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Nauman's Sporting Goods vs Cole's Drug Store.
Alleys three and four — Regina Hotel vs Washington Mower.
Alleys five and six — Kreamer Ice Cream vs Lanterman's Funeral Home.

Three Contests Involving Quintets Entered In Monroe County League Slated To Be Played

Three games involving members of the Monroe County League are slated to be played tonight, all on the home floor of the local contingents. It will be the first game since the Christmas holidays for two of the quintets, while the third contingent will be playing its third game in as many nights.

Pocono High, having lost four straight games, will be looking for its initial victory of the campaign when the blue and white clad charges of Coach Harry Werkheiser play host to Blairstown High, at Tannersville.

The junior varsity contest is scheduled to begin promptly at 7:15, while the main event gets underway approximately one hour later.

Chestnut Hill will also be making its initial start of the new year while playing host to the Pocono Warriors, a team composed of students from East Stroudsburg High school. The Warriors already own a victory over the charges of Coach Otto "Junior" Mills.

CHAMPION—Harry Walton, veteran klegler who has taken the local bowling world by storm recently, is shown above with the ball that has done all the damage. Walton won the Head Pin tournament at Harmon's Recreation on New Year's Day and is currently leading the average race in the Record-Major League. (Daily Record Photo)

Nazareth To Invade Bangor

Bangor—Bangor High school will be shooting for its initial Lehigh-Northampton league victory of the season tonight, when the Slaters play host to Nazareth, a team that has already dropped a pair of circuit contests.

The Bangor contingent, under the guidance of Coach John Heard, has lost league encounters with Hellertown and Coplay, after dropping a pair of pre-season outings to Stroudsburg High.

Only Win
Bangor's only victory thus far was scored over the Alumni last week.

The Slaters will probably present a lineup which will feature Joe Heard and Joe D'Imperio at the forward slots, Jim Rowlands at center and Asa Pysker and Bob Egbert at the guard positions.

Junior varsity action is listed for 6:45 and the varsity tussle at 8:15.

Single Game Scheduled

Cramer's Cut Rate, playing out of the Monroe County YMCA, will tangle with Matamoras High school tonight, on the latter's home court. The game is listed for 8 p. m.

Mountaineers Open League At Palmerton

Stroudsburg High's spirited basketball team will open the Lehigh Valley League flag race tonight against the defending title holder, Palmerton, on the latter's home court. The difficult task will find the Mountaineers also trying to keep a winning streak alive that has reached four games at this point.

The junior varsity contest will begin at 7:15 and the varsity battle in the neighborhood of 8:15.

Palmerton has shown that it is going to be tough to handle this season in quest of its second straight title, despite the fact that the Blue Bombers were hit hard by graduation last June.

Players Praise Post-Season Bowl Battles

By Will Grimsley

Mobile, Ala., (AP)—If college crusaders plotting the death of football bowl games are doing it for the sake of the players, they might as well forget it.

The boys love 'em.

Stars of three major bowls, gathered here for the annual Senior Bowl game Saturday, urged yesterday that the post-season events be kept alive as an incentive for players and "an experience not soon forgotten."

Battered performers just in from last Tuesday's battles at New Orleans, Dallas and Miami joined in a unanimous chant: "keep the bowls going."

"It's an experience I wouldn't have missed for anything," said Kentucky's "Babe" Parilli, who played in the Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowls in successive years and who was voted the outstanding player in Kentucky's 20-7 triumph over Texas Christian this week.

Statement

"I think bowls are wonderful things for the boys. We all look forward to them and are proud when we are chosen. It's something we can tell our grandchildren."

Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski, Maryland's chief executive in the 28-13 rout of top-rated Tennessee, added:

"It's sort of a reward for a good season. Our boys certainly are all for them."

"He got a quick seconding vote from Bob Ward, Maryland's lithe All-American guard, who said: "We didn't miss a day of class. The bowl didn't hurt us at all as far as school work is concerned. And it was a great experience."

Coolbaugh Takes Measure Of Milford

Tobyhanna — Tom Pope, with a brilliant display of shooting, led Coolbaugh High to its second straight victory and fourth of the season here last night, as the green and white clad fives took the measure of Milford, 48-37, with another one of those blistering last period spurts.

Coolbaugh made a clean sweep of the program for the second time in as many nights by also winning the junior varsity encounter, 23-13. Pope shot 12 times from the floor and hit the bulls eye on eight occasions, in addition to featuring a four-for-four record from the foul line, for a total of 20 points.

Close Battle
Milford, who had taken the measure of Coolbaugh earlier in the campaign, battled the charges of Coach Don Wismer on even terms during the first eight minutes, as both teams came up with ten tallies. However, the home team moved out in front at the halfway mark, 20-19.

The visiting Milford crew dominated the third stanza, 14-9, and entered the final quarter on the long end of a 33-29 count. However, Coolbaugh ran wild during the last eight minutes, racking up 19 tallies while holding Milford to a pair of field goals, to ice the contest.

Players Praise Post-Season Bowl Battles

Stroudsburg opened the present campaign with a sweep of a two-game series with Bangor and then came from eight points off the pace to nip East Stroudsburg, 39-38, in one of the most thrilling games in the long rivalry between the two schools.

The Mountaineers accounted for victory number four with a comfortable decision over the Alumni last week.

Coach Russell announced last night that he would stick with the same starting lineup that has accounted for all four victories to date. This means that Dave "

Greene-Dreher Tangles With Lake Township

Newfoundland — Action in the Wayne County Basketball Conference, at a standstill during the recent holidays, will be resumed tonight with a slate of four games scheduled.

Greene-Dreher-Sterling, yet to make a showing in loop play due to a pre-Christmas postponement, will meet Lake Township at Lake Ariel; league-leading Honesdale faces a crucial test on the Wayne county boards; Hawley plays host to Moscow and Pleasant Mount will tangle with Damascus on the latter's court.

Henry "Hank" Arneberg, coach of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling forces, is hopeful of making Lake Township the Gold and Blue's first conference victim. The Lakers have won one and lost three in WCC competition while the locals have reversed that record in exhibition play.

Tough Contest
Honesdale topped Waymart in their first meeting, 35-31, on the winner's floor but may find the cramped quarters at Waymart working to its disadvantage. The Hornets have won three, lost none; Waymart has one victory and one defeat.

Hawley, right at Honesdale's heels with a 2-0 record and rated as one of the loop's best clubs, will be meeting the untested Moscow Trojans, who were plenty of trouble on occasions last season. Pleasant Mount figures to have easy sailing against Carl Bell's Damascus five; The Mounties are one and one; Damascus has won once and have been beaten three times.

More Than Thousand Keystone High Schools Open Pursuit Of Coveted Conference Crowns

By Ben French
Harrisburg (AP) — More than 1,000 Pennsylvania high school basketball teams open a two-month campaign tonight in pursuit of conference titles.

The opening whistles will find most of the circuits' defending champions facing a rugged path on the way to berths in the post-season playoffs.

Allentown, the class "A" champion of the state's public school teams, has a tough opening night assignment in the fast East Penn Conference when the graduation riddled Canaries journey to neighboring Bethlehem. The host team is touted as the Canaries' chief contender.

Other East Penn openers send strong Hazleton to Easton and an improved Allentown Catholic to Pottsville.

Top Team
Farrell, the west's top team last spring, jumps off against New Castle as the Steelers start defending their WPIAL class "A" title. Winners of the Johnstown War Memorial tourney in which they overcame Ford City, 76-44, the Steelers have another high calibre combination.

Other featured WPIAL games send Ford City to Kittanning, Greensburg at North Huntingdon, Dormont at Washington, Duquesne at Clairton, North Union Twp. at Uniontown and Georges Twp. at Waynesburg.

York, the pre-season favorite in the Central Penn Conference, opens at Steelton with the Bearcats aiming for their third title in four years. Other games have Lebanon at Milton Hershey, Reading at William Penn and John Harris at Lancaster.

Up in the northwest, District Ten's section two loop matches defending champion Meadville against highly-rated Corry and Oil City against Titusville.

Southeastern action finds classy Pottstown meeting Bridgeport in a Ches-Mont League opener and Norristown only team to stop Allentown's state champs so far, starting suburban league play at Upper Darby.

Coal Area
The hard coal area offers Old Forge defending its Lackawanna league title against Scranton Central and a Black Diamond league feature between Coaldale and Lansford. Stroudsburg journeys to defending champion Palmerton in the Lehigh Valley inaugural. Roosevelt Trail league play gets under way with Toward testing Athens, one of the loop's top teams. Danville, a District Four threat, opens Susquehanna league play against Lewisburg. Lewisburg, again a power in District Six, defends its Mountain league title against Tyrone.

A preview of a possible District Six playoff highlights the non-league activity as Johnstown's district and Tri-County league titlists meet a strong independent Altoona. Swoyersville's once-beaten Sailors meet St. Michael's in a final pre-league warm up for the east's number two team last year.

The launching of the various league campaigns from one end of the state to the other will feature a host of new coaches at the helm of cage machines anxious to battle for the top prizes.

Although action in the Lehigh-Northampton League actually got underway before the Christmas holidays, the circuit recently opens its doors for serious basketball tonight and the action will wax hot for the next two months.

Golf Pros Open Today's Radio Program

By Bob Myers
Los Angeles (AP) — Golf's winter tournament trail will be officially opened here today for the 1952 season when the leading players in the nation tee off in the rich Los Angeles Open.

They'll be aiming at a purse of $17,500 this time, $2,500 more than the past few years, and the man most generally picked to win the $4,000 top money is Lloyd Mangrum, the leading coin collector in the game last year.

The scene for the eighth straight year is the Riviera Country club, with its more than 7,000 yards of rolling, tree-lined fairways sprawling near the Pacific Ocean. Par is 35-36-71.

Last Year
Mangrum clipped four strokes off the figure in winning the tournament for the second time last year. His 73-70-70-67-280 was one shot better than Henry Ransom's.

Mangrum, who works out of Chicago and lives in Los Angeles, is not only the defending winner, he is the main gate attraction. Two of the stars of former years, four-time winner Ben Hogan, and Sam Snead, a two-time winner, did not enter this time.

Virtually all the others who finished in the top 20 a year ago are on hand for the four-day, 72-hole affair, including Ransom, Ellsworth Vines, Cary Middlecoff, Doug Ford and Snee Riegel, all of whom placed high in the money in 1951.

Business News In Monroe Area

Portland Sand & Gravel Co., recent purchasers of the J. H. Beers ready mixed concrete business, have the contract for ready mixed concrete for both the Portland and the Delaware Water Gap bridges being erected by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge commission.

Founded in 1924, the concern expanded to include its own ready-mixed concrete business at Carpentersville, N. J. in 1946, near Philadelphia, N. J., serving that region and Easton under the name of Consolidated Concrete Corp. It now services with 19 ready-mix trucks.

Main offices of the firm are in Upper Mt. Bethel Township, near Portland, where it operates large sand and gravel pit deposits. It produces both and Federal specifications.

The firm has sidings on both Lackawanna and Lehigh & New England railroads.

Officers of the company are Daniel J. Miller, president and Russell E. Reimer, secretary-treasurer.

Pococon Haven at Mount Pococon has become Mt. Pleasant Inn and its operation has been transformed from that of a sanatorium to a resort hotel business.

C. David Hallock, owner-operator, recently completed the change in operating policy. He immediately put the resort on a full year operation plan which has met with satisfactory results, particularly during the recent holiday season.

Originally the Mt. Pleasant House, the modern, attractive

Mrs. Ray, Formerly Of Here, Dies

Mrs. Ruth Beville Ray, 76, long a resident of Stroudsburg, died Wednesday at Harlem Hospital, New York City.

Mrs. Ray was a daughter of the late Charles and Mary Beville. She was born in Greensboro, N. C., and came to Monroe county as a child to spend the majority of her life here. Mrs. Ray was the wife of Theodore Ray, who preceded her in death.

Survivors are two brothers, John B. Beville and Richard O. Beville, both of Stroudsburg, several nieces and nephews. Services will be held in the Ross funeral parlors in New York City.

First Baby Succumbs

Lock Haven (AP) — The first baby born in Clinton county in 1952 died yesterday. Hospital attendants said Leif Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Erickson, was born at 2:02 p.m. Tuesday and died at 2:20 p.m. yesterday.

A herring dies almost the instant it is lifted from the water.

Analomink

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood Cortright had Sunday dinner at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Bates. Mr. William B. Bates, father of Mr. Robert Bates, has been ill for sometime.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pennell had as their Christmas guests Mr. and Mrs. Harry Repsher and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Repsher. On Christmas night Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pennell visited the latter's grandmother, Mrs. Stewart Repsher, Sr., who has been ill. Mr. and Mrs. Pennell also visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Repsher, over the weekend.

Sincere wishes are sent to those on the sick list that the New Year will find them in improved health. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pennell will celebrate their seventh wedding anniversary on the seventh of January.

The PTA of the Analomink school will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, January eighth, at 7:30 P.M.
